

LIFE IS PRECIOUS

Human life is precious. Two people dear to me found themselves in very difficult situations. In each case, an abortion resulted. Both are now Christians. Two other cases had very different results, and I am so grateful to the people involved. My wife and I adopted a newborn, who is now 37, and very dear to his siblings. My daughter Amy raised her son Nate as a single mom. Nate is attending university and is amazing young man. I admire women who choose to give their child life. I don't condemn those that made a different choice, but I do worry about them. I have no such empathy or understanding for healthcare professionals who kill babies for money. I despise those who sell baby parts to others. These little ones are made in God's image. Those in the abortion industry who don't repent and turn completely away face a very dark future with God.
